ABOUT VISTA

VISTA is a COST Action connecting researchers across countries and disciplines to study values in times of social and political turbulence. Through networking, exchange, and joint outputs, VISTA supports scientific excellence, inclusiveness, and early-career development.

1. SCOPE

This call awards 9 Young Researcher and Innovator Conference Grants for presenting accepted work (oral or poster) at high-level third-party conferences not organised or co-organised by VISTA. In line with the objectives and theoretical framework of the COST Action VISTA, the selection of applications will prioritise proposals addressing themes related to the study of values and their transformations in contemporary societies. In particular, applications focusing on the following topics will be given priority:

- Evolution of values over time, with specific reference to longitudinal perspectives and comparative analyses inspired by or connected to the VISTA Action;
- Methodological reflections on the measurement of values, including quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-method approaches, as well as discussions on indicators, validity, reliability, and cross-national comparability;
- Empirical research on values, exploring their role in shaping social attitudes, behaviours, and political orientations across different social groups and contexts.
- Changes in values at individual or societal level as answer to major societal shocks/crises.

These thematic priorities are intended to indicate the general direction of the call and to ensure coherence with the COST Action VISTA. They should not be considered exhaustive: proposals addressing related or complementary topics relevant to the study of values are also welcome.
